Game Development

Game development work is carried out directly by DanumHost Limited, in-house.

Here at DanumHost Limited, game development work is carried out directly by our own in-house team rather than being outsourced to a third party. This means that when you engage us for game development services, you are working with DanumHost Limited throughout, and these Terms of Service and our other Policies apply in full to that work, in the same way as they do for our other Services.
